RONALD TIENKAMP TAKES OVER BOA!

In a drive to turn our future plans into reality, a share transaction took place in the last week of December. Ronald Tienkamp, Managing Director, took over the shares with the intention to grow BOA in the years ahead and provide a quality boost in various areas.

"For me personally, this is a great opportunity and development. However, we cannot do this alone and we need our long-term partners. We look back on a good year, in which we received some great orders and were able to implement a number of essential improvements internally. In the near future, we intend to further roll out our BOA Care programme to our partners and employees. We are also urgently looking for new employees to join us in shaping the new BOA philosophy. All in all, we are very proud of these wonderful developments and we are pleased to be able to announce this takeover," says Ronald Tienkamp.

About BOA Recycling Systems

As a manufacturer of waste processing systems with more than 65 years of experience, BOA Recycling Systems is familiar with every aspect of the complex field of waste processing. All the equipment is developed and produced at our own production facility in Hengelo.

Over the years, our company has acquired a strong position both in the Netherlands and internationally. Most of our production is destined for export across the globe, although Europe is our main focus. Our international sales and service network, which includes BOA branches in Great Britain and Germany, is always at our customers' service. We offer solutions to companies in the waste and production industry. Our machines process a range of materials, including paper/cardboard, plastic, aluminium, household waste and even car tyres.
